

Murray Hooker May Be Opposed

Word Comes from Richmond of Possible Antagonism — State Senator Booker's Name Again Mentioned.

(Special to The Bee.)
RICHMOND, May 17.—It has become known that Westmoreland Davis is trying to stir up opposition to J. Murray Hooker, the present congressman from the fifth district who succeeded his close friend, the late Hon. Rorer A. James. It is understood that Davis has been in communication with two of his appointees in Danville to get them to try to induce either a prominent lawyer from Henry county or Halifax county to run against Congressman Hooker in the August primary. What success this movement has met with cannot be learned here but little anxiety is being felt as Mr. Hooker carried the fifth when elected by a larger majority than was ever polled before.

There has been for some time speculation as to whether or not Senator Booker would be a candidate for Congress from the Fifth District. He has been mentioned for the honor several times, notably at the convention held in Danville last September, but at that time he threw his support to Murray Hooker and made the Patrick candidate's nomination certain. Since that time there has been a suspicion that he might come out for the honor in the event the primary is held and recently there has been a revival of gossip connecting his name with the post.

Questioned this morning over long distance telephone, Senator Booker, who was at Halifax, declared that he had nothing to say on the subject at this time, but indicated that within three or four days he would have given some formal decision and would have an announcement to make.

The Fifth District Democratic Committee is to hold a meeting tomorrow at Martinsville for the purpose of deciding the primary question.

In the event Congressman Hooker is unopposed it is unlikely that the Republicans will offer a candidate in view of the overwhelming majority by which the Patrick man won out last November.

Haynes Aids Lynch Law, Hill Charges

Maryland Representative Asks Removal of Dry Chief for Spreading Penalties.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Representative Hill (Rep. Md.) today charged Prohibition Commissioner Haynes with officially approving lynch law in Prohibition violation cases. In a letter to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Hill demanded immediate investigation and removal of Haynes from office. The charge grew out of the issuance from the Commissioner's office of the following statement:

"Jurors are returning more convictions and courts are not only administering sentences, but some judges are resorting to stern measures in their effort to stamp out bootlegging."

"After Charles Chausard had pleaded guilty of liquor violation at Pittsburgh, Kan., Judge A. J. Curran said to him, 'If any more violations are reported in your home I will order the house burned.'"

"The above utterance from the Prohibition Commissioner," Hill said in his letter, "made by him personally or on his behalf and under his responsibility, constitutes an official approval of the application of lynch law to the suppression of liquor violations."

Such statements emanating from the officials of the Treasury Department constitute a direct instigation to the spread of lynch law.

"The lynching evil, according to Samuel McGraw, chief general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, is daily becoming worse. The above statement attributed to Prohibition Commissioner Haynes is a definite provocation of lynch law."

"I request an immediate investigation and the removal of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes or whoever else is responsible for the above publication."

It was stated at the Treasury Department that Mr. Mellon had received the letter but had not had time to consider it. Mr. Mellon believes the charge to be a matter which the department cannot neglect. He will personally determine the merits of the matter. Commissioner Haynes did not make any statement.

Amended Mapp Act Effective In June

Judges Can't Suspend Jail Sentences and Search Warrants Are Not Necessary.

RICHMOND, Va., May 16.—When the new Virginia prohibition law, as amended by the last session of the General Assembly, becomes effective June 13 one of the most stringent laws that has yet been made to regulate liquor will be in operation. It was pointed out here today, September 1 the present State prohibition Department ceases to function and the enforcement of the law is transferred to the Attorney-General, the old department continuing to function until that time. After September 1 the supervision of the law and questions as to ouster of officials failing to enforce it will be directly in charge of the Attorney-General of the State.

Drastic Changes Noted.
Among some of the drastic changes in the new law will be the following: The right to suspend all sentences is taken from the judges of the courts in cases in which more than a gallon of liquor is involved.

The new law makes it unlawful to manufacture, transport or to have in one's possession a still.

For any person a distillery is deemed prima facie evidence against an accused person.

Any prohibition agent or officer who fails to account for or deliver to the proper authorities any liquor taken in the enforcement of law is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Search Warrant Unnecessary.
Prohibition enforcement officers may, without warrant, enter and search freight yards, passenger depots, baggage and storage rooms of any common carrier, trains, baggage or express cars, boats, flying machines or submarines, or any other conveyance, billiard rooms, poolrooms or bowling alleys.

Without search warrant, however, officers may not search a Pullman berth or stateroom in a train or on a boat, nor can they search handbags, suitcases or trunks on a train or boat, unless the necessary consent is given by the owner of the property.

Such baggage, however, may be searched with warrant when it is in an automobile or other vehicle.

The law makes it a misdemeanor for any person to impersonate a prohibition officer.

Malt Mixtures Banned.
No person is allowed to can, sell, give away, transport, distribute or have in his possession any malt, malted barley or other malted mixtures, except in a private home.

One of the sections of the new law defines who may be drunk or intoxicated, this section reading: "Any person who has drunk enough alcohol to affect his mental disposition, speech, muscular movement, general appearance or behavior, shall be deemed to be intoxicated, and if he shall continue to use ardent spirits as a beverage during the period of one year, so as to provide the above results from time to time he shall be deemed a person of intemperate habits within the meaning of this act."

Child Labor Decision Stops 25 Va. Suits

RICHMOND, Va., May 16.—Virginia's child labor law, adopted at the recent session of the general assembly, will not be adopted by the federal supreme court decision that the federal act is unconstitutional, and the office of John H. Epperson, state commissioner of labor, is going right ahead with its plans for the enforcement of the state law when it becomes effective on June 13. So much was stated by Mr. Hall this morning.

The state law conforms in all important details to the federal statute, save that it exempts operators of canning industries from its operation.

During the past month J. B. Cline, chief inspector of factories, and the state commissioner of labor, a corps of assistants has been at work in Virginia checking up those industries which employ child labor in violation of the federal law.

Plan to sue Twenty-Five
Mr. Cline found about twenty-five manufacturers who had violated the law and was planning to institute proceedings through which the federal government could collect 10 percent of the net earnings of these manufacturers for the past two years, or that portion of the two years in which child labor was employed.

However, the cases will be dropped and Mr. Cline and his assistants will return to Washington. Their division has been abolished.

With the abolition of the division go also three offices established in Virginia to inspect and enforce the law. These offices were in Richmond, Danville and Lynchburg, and were in charge of Miss Mary Price, Mrs. Julia Rowan and Miss Jenny Fargo, respectively.

A digest of the state law compiled by Mr. Hall shows that it covers all lawful occupations except work on farms, in orchards, in gardens and in canning plants.

Children less than fourteen years are not permitted to work at any occupation not excepted by the law. Those of less than 16 years may not work in mines, quarries, tunnels, excavation work, or in any place where there is or around dangerous machinery, in preparation of compositions in which dangerous or poisonous chemicals are used, in the manufacture of paints, colors or white lead, or in the manufacture of explosives.

Boys less than 16 and girls less than 18 years may not work in retail cigar or tobacco stores or theaters, concert halls, pool halls, bowling alleys or places of amusement, hotels, restaurants, steam laundries, passenger of freight elevators.

Girls less than 18 may not be employed as telegraph messengers nor in street trades. Boys less than that age may not be employed as messengers between the hours of 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.

Boys less than 12 years may not be employed in street trades—such as the sales of newspapers, etc.—between 6 a. m. and 7 p. m. In each day public schools actually are in session.

Klansmen Give $25.00 To Church

NORFOLK, May 16.—Wearing robes bearing the insignia of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, seven masked men last night appeared at Old Zion Christian church, presented an envelope containing $25 for charitable use, stood an instant at salute, and departed without speaking a word.

The contribution has been accepted by the pastor, Rev. W. H. Garman, to the treasurer of the Men's Bible class, which will use the money in some of its work of relieving need.

The visitation came unexpectedly about the middle of a service. Dr. Garman on the theme "Revelations," being made to a mass meeting of men only. The back door to the church opened quietly and seven men entered the church and approached the congregation from the front. They were led by a tall man. None in the pews could be recognized, it is said. Silence was absolute.

When the service went from the pulpit as though he went from the church, the tall leader extended his arms as in giving benediction. The men behind him stood at salute. He then turned to the altar and placed the envelope on the table. The church congregation from the rear door of the church and entering an automobile in which they sped away.

Garman decided to apply the money to the Men's Bible class charity fund, turned it over to the class treasurer, and continued his address, from the point at which the silent interruption had occurred.

Plan To Preserve Jerusalem's Ruins

NEW YORK, May 17.—"The citadel of David is a rubbish heap, the garden of Jerusalem are under the walls of the city are crumbling. Jerusalem with all its historic grandeur should not be allowed to remain in this neglected condition."

These words were made yesterday by E. Keith-Roach, F. E. G. S., first assistant chief secretary to the government of Palestine, who is at the Hotel Edinmore on his trip in the interests of the Pro-Jerusalem society.

"My object in coming to the United States is three-fold," Mr. Keith-Roach said to a reporter. "America has shown a very practical interest in the preservation of the ruins of Jerusalem. I wish to put before America the objects of the Pro-Jerusalem society and I wish to learn something of your spirit of organization and executive ability."

One of the objects of the society is the preservation and advancement of the interests of Jerusalem, especially the protection and maintenance of parks and open spaces, establishment of museums, libraries and art galleries and the protection and preservation of antiquities.

"We have started a town-planning scheme which includes the improvement of the old city within the walls, the mediaeval aspect of which is to be preserved, and the drawing of a survey around the old city within which area no new buildings are to be built."

"The reservoirs which Solomon built two miles south of Bethlehem, which had filled, have been re-opened and Jerusalem has now a water supply through ancient built centuries before the Christian era."

"There is no gas or electricity in Jerusalem at present, but a concession has been granted to use the water of the Jerusalem river which connects with the River Jordan, and it is anticipated there will be enough power to light every town and village in Palestine at a very cheap rate."

Slomp May Not Be a Candidate

It became known today that local Republicans are anxiously awaiting some decision from Congressman C. Slocum Slomp on the question of standing for re-election to Congress from the Ninth district in the fall election. Local friends of Congressman Slomp, who has come to be regarded as the patronage mogul of Virginia with the advent of the Harrison administration, understand that he is seriously considering withdrawing from the congressional field, having felt acutely the burdens which have fallen upon him of recent months. His health is said to be failing. Recently he told one local Republican that he had not made up his mind as to what he intended to do, and there was some talk of Louis Preston Summers being offered the support of the Republican leaders in the event of Congressman Slomp declining to be a candidate. Mr. Summers' nomination is understood to have been sent to the Senate for the post of district attorney for the western district of Virginia, rendered vacant recently by the death of Thomas Muncy in Roanoke. Summers has been soundly out by Mr. Slomp on the question of running for Congress and is understood to have expressed aspirations towards congressional honors.

So far as known, Congressman Slomp has made no public statement on his proposed plan of action, and for that reason, local Republicans are looking towards Washington for a decision which they expect to be made within a short time.

Today's Game Is Rained Out

There will be no baseball game here today.

This announcement was made this morning by P. R. Hatcher, owner of the Danville team, after he had gone to the Stone Mountain Jackson park and looked over the grounds. He found the diamond and entire field as well literally covered with water caused by the steady downfall of rain since early this morning. Even should the suns clear up several hours before the time of the game, it would be impossible to play on the grounds, owing to their wet condition. The locals were scheduled to meet Goetz's aggregation from Durham this afternoon, from which place the team returned last night after splitting the series losing to the Bulls Monday and defeating them yesterday.

OLD WOMAN TAKES A PRISONER BACK

NEW YORK, May 16.—A grandmother who takes a gun started back to Chicago tonight with a woman many years her junior who is wanted there on a charge of silk stealing.

The grandmother is Mrs. Alice Clement Fabel. She came far from presenting the conventional picture of a police woman when she appeared in court to claim her prisoner—Laura Reed.

Assistant District Attorney Goodman looked closely at "grandma." The highlights of her costume comprised a purple turban, a black cape, suede pumps, huge pearl ear rings and several rings and bracelets. She was five foot five and inclined to plumpness.

Mr. Goodman also looked at the prisoner. She was poorly dressed but tall and rangy, she towered above her prospective guardian.

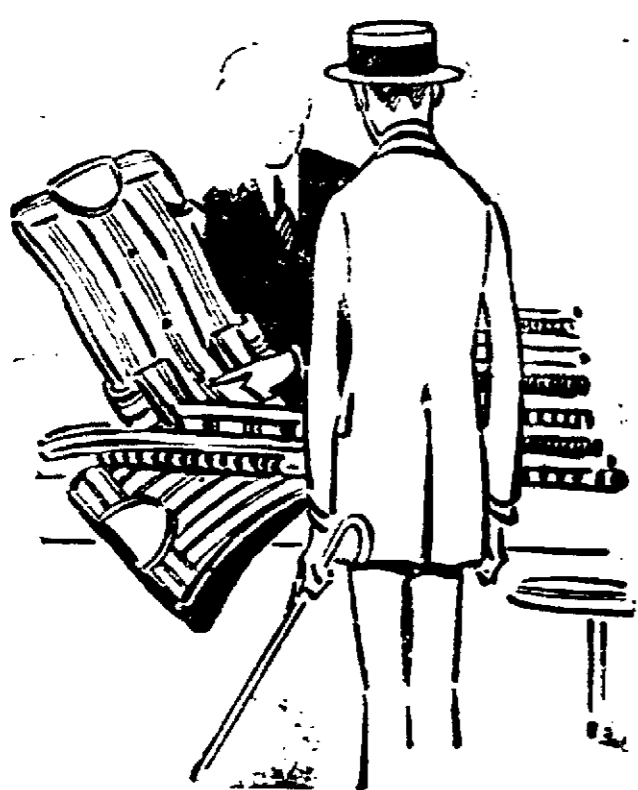

Said Mr. Goodman to Mrs. Fabel: "Aren't you just a little bit afraid you'll have trouble taking this woman all the way to Chicago without assistance with the record she has?"

Replied Mrs. Fabel: "I'm a grandmother and proud to be able to say so. But I'm also a first grade detective of the Chicago police department and I pack a gun. Just rest assured me."

So many baby passengers are now crossing the Atlantic that one kind of steamship is providing children's tots.

Annual Tribute To Men Who Gave The Gray Its Fame

Yesterday the old and beautiful custom inaugurated soon after the Civil War of paying tribute to the men who went forth to battle in the cause of the Confederacy and of their nation's States was observed with the same beautiful and touching reverence for these now aged survivors of that historic conflict and the oft repeated tribute of garlanding the graves of the dead.

It was the date set apart by the faithful Confederate women and the Daughters of the Confederacy of this city as Confederate Memorial Day, with the Ladies Memorial Association directing this beautiful service. The program consisted of a procession in which the two local military units participated, the band, the Cabell-Graves camp of Confederate veterans in uniform, followed by the ladies of the memorial association and the two chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy and many citizens in vehicles or on foot, the route being to the Confederate Memorial building to Green Hill cemetery and thence to the soldiers' monument.

The first feature of the day's program was the practical one of giving pleasure to the aged and generally feeble men who wore the Confederate gray, a memorial day feature inaugurated some years ago. This took the form of a dinner at the Leeland cafeteria, where an abundant and attractively arranged and prepared menu was served to forty-six of these aged and honored men. It was one of the largest gatherings of the veterans in years, and they appeared to enjoy the occasion even more than usual. What this reunion and these associations and the memories awakened thereby mean to these men can hardly be realized by the younger generation.

On this occasion the veterans were favored with the presence and participation in their entertainment of Mrs. J. E. B. Stuart, Jr., wife of the son and namesake of the dashing Virginia cavalier who died in action at the zenith of his fame. The veteran enthusiasm, one of them proclaiming proudly that he was in Stuart's cavalry. Mrs. Stuart was much touched by the enthusiasm and the pathos of this spontaneous demonstration.

While the veterans chummed together in the old comrade-like way and swapped reminiscence, there was an intermission of two hours or more before the commemorative exercises were held on the spacious lawn of the Confederate Memorial building, with the front portico as the rostrum on which the ministers, the orators of the occasion and the singers appeared. Confederate and war-time songs were sung, a patriotic recitation given and then Judge J. Thomas Watson, the orator of the occasion, made an earnest and thoughtful address appropriate to the occasion. Judge Watson paid a handsome appreciation to the men and women of the '60's and the splendidly exemplified their heroism.

The full program of exercises at the mansion was as follows, Mayor Woodling presiding.

Selection by the band.

Prayer, Rev. J. Callaway Robertson.

Song, "Maryland, My Maryland," by Mrs. J. T. Watson and Pat Watson.

Remarks, Hon. Harry Wooding.

Song, Mrs. A. T. Gunn.

Address, John T. Watson.

Song, "Tenting On the Old Camp Ground."

Quartette, Messrs. Hall, Phillips, Benazzi and Lillard.

Recitation, Mrs. Harry Wooding, Jr.

Song, Mrs. J. T. Watson.

Prayer, Rev. J. N. Latham.

Selection by the band.

The flowers will then be taken to the cemetery where final exercises will be held.

Prayer, Rev. J. Clyde Holland.

Hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," by the band.

by the conclusion of this program the procession was formed and soon moved to Green Hill where in the beauty of a delightful afternoon the mound about the monument and the graves of Confederate veterans were decorated with beautiful flowers. Contrary to the usual misfortune that so often marks memorial day, the clouds withheld their showers and the occasion was one of the most pleasant and beautiful tributes of many years.

LONG DISTANCE LOVE UPSETS V. V.'S HONEYMOON WITH $40,000,000 HEIRESS

MRS. LIUBOFF MOUROMSKY VONSIATSKY, WHO CLAIMS TO BE THE LEGAL WIFE OF ANASTASE VONSIATSKY-VONSIATSKOY (BELOW), WHO RECENTLY MARRIED THE FORMER MRS. MARION REAMS STEPHENS, CHICAGO HEIRESS (LOWER RIGHT).

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—Long distance love has stirred up a lot of trouble for "V. V."

A wife in Philadelphia and another in Paris—she says she's his wife—are just one too many to suit the Russian Orthodox Church, New York.

Earning love letters and a marriage license written in Russian have been turned over to the authorities to prove that Anastase Vonsiatky-Vonsiatksky's legal wife is Mrs. Marion Reams Stephens V. V., the Chicago heiress to $40,000,000, whom he married in New York a few months ago.

The claimant is Mrs. Liouboff Mouromsky Vonsiatky, now in Paris.

She married V. V. when he was an anti-Bolshevik office in Yalta, Crimea, in 1920, according to the documents she turned over to the American embassy in Paris.

"We have received a certified copy of the marriage license issued at Yalta," said Father Lisenkovsky, secretary of the consistory of the Russian Orthodox Church, New York.

It is intimated that V. V.'s marriage to Mrs. Stephens will be declared void by the church without waiting for a cablegram from Father Vladimirsky, the priest who is said to have married V. V. to the Russian girl.

The latter produced in Paris some passionate love letters beginning "My dear, beloved little wife," "My adored child" and "My little Liouboff."

She claims V. V. wrote these letters to her from here last year.

V. V.'s wedding to Mrs. Stephens created a stir in society last winter. The Chicago widow is some years his senior and in spite of her great wealth went to live with him in a cottage at Ridley Park, driving him to and from his work in the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

2 SMALL FIRES DURING NIGHT

The fire department was called out on two fires last night. The first alarm was turned in at 12 o'clock from Stokes street, where an out-house was blazing. This building burned to the ground.

Hardly had the fire engine gotten back to headquarters from the first blaze before another alarm was turned in from the No. 2. A negro house on Richmond Hill had caught afire and burned down before firemen were able to reach it.

Better Business Training For the Women Of State

At the annual convention of the Virginia Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs to be held in Danville Friday and Saturday of this week one of the interesting features of the program will be the conference on better business training facilities in Virginia, based on the point of view of business women. This movement comes in advance of a national one to be presented to the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, when it holds its annual convention in Chattanooga in July, and Virginia has a special opportunity in working out plans in advance since the national vice president for Virginia, Miss Orla Latham Hatch, is also education chairman of the national federation and will shape its educational policies next year.

Glen Swiggett, U. S. commissioner of commercial education, will be in attendance and Dr. Charles G. Maphis, of the University of Virginia, has been asked to speak on "Facilities in Virginia for Advanced Business Training." This conference will start at the Friday luncheon, immediately following the social feature of the luncheon, over which Miss Maud Woodward, president of the Danville club, will preside and at which the heads of the various women's organizations in Danville will bring greetings to the convention delegates.

A students vocational luncheon will be a part of Saturday's program, when the senior of Chatham, Randolph-Macon Institute, Whitnell high school, Averett College and Danville high school will be in attendance to tell what they are planning as to their future business and the professions afford the women of today who are adequately equipped.

A continuation of the appropriate dress campaign will be planned and carefully worked out plans of business women can dress in style, taste and economy, will be presented by Mrs. Thos. Bigger, of Richmond, who has given much time and thought to this subject. Miss Eleanor Oliver, clothes specialist employed with the Extension Department of V. P. I., Mrs. Lena Lake Forrest, of Danville, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will attend all the sessions of the convention and the outstanding feature of the meeting will be her address on Saturday evening at the Elks Club, to which various civic bodies of Danville have been invited. Mrs. Forrest is not only a charming speaker, but as the head of an organization of thirty-two thousand business and professional women, she is a woman of great value.

The social features of the convention have not been neglected. The Kiwanis Club will be luncheon hosts on Friday, the Young Men's Business Club and the Danville Chamber of Commerce will each provide automobile trips in and around Danville, while the Business and Professional Women's Club of Danville will be access at a dinner Friday evening at the country club, at which Miss Margaret Brydon will preside. This will also be "Stunt Night" when the various club delegations will vie with each other for the prize for the best stunt. The committee in charge of the convention is as follows: Mrs. J. K. Bowman, general chairman, Miss Orla Latham Hatch, chairman students luncheon, Miss Maud Woodward, chairman local arrangements, Mrs. Margaret Brydon, housing, Miss Lillian Brown, recreation, Miss Kate Watkins, information, Miss Angie Simmons, credentials, Miss Myrtle Lee, program, Miss Sallie Haskins.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON WILL SPEAK JUNE 2

"Pussyfoot" Johnson, the prohibition protagonist who lost an orb in the cause of his cause, has been secured by the Law and Order League to visit Danville June 2 and make a speech at the tabernacle.

Johnson is an international character. He has been pros-acted from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strands and appears to be a rather unique personality, obsessed with the idea of prohibition. He is persistent in propaganda and is a born opposition, that cost him an eye in England.

Of course it must be taken for granted that those who are predisposed to prohibition are favorably inclined to any person who can at all present the cause. But even they are apt to rate speakers, writers and other workers as good, indifferent or worthless. For Johnson's reception among such a class it is enough to say that they regard him as one of the world's greatest reform workers.

But Johnson has no real enemies and there are mighty few who scorn him. To the curious he is an object of great interest. By those who oppose his work and who seek to refute his arguments he is held a foe-man worthy of their steel and an honest antagonist whom they respect though they fight him.

Johnson is such a speaker as is able to tell a convincing story—a story that holds the attention, interests the mind and convinces the heart.

William C. Griggs, of Gadsden, Ala., was appointed acting superintendent of the schools of this city by Harris Hart, State superintendent of public instruction yesterday at Richmond, following a resolution by the State Board of Education empowering Mr. Hart to make the appointment.

The Danville school board recommended the appointment of Mr. Griggs at a meeting held Monday morning and named a steering committee composed of A. C. Cogsway and Dr. I. C. Harrison to go to Richmond to appear before the State board. The State Board of Education had given assurance that it would appoint the man recommended by the local school board.

The new superintendent is a graduate of Harvard and has taken advanced work at Harvard and Chicago universities. He has been connected with the Gadsden city schools as assistant superintendent and superintendent for a number of years. Prior to going to Gadsden he was connected with the public schools of Birmingham.

Norfolk Boys Held For Their "Joke"

Dan Gaskins and John Pope Placed Under Bail for Alleged Threatening Letters—Bankers Their Target.

NORFOLK, Va., May 16.—Dan Gaskins and John Pope, 17 and 18 respectively, will play no more "practical jokes" on bankers and merchants, they told United States Commissioner William Mahone today.

Letters written to half a dozen bank president demanding large sums of money and orders for jewelry placed in the name of City Manager Ashburner with local jewelers were intended as jokes, they told the commissioner, who held them under $500 bond each for the next Federal grand jury.

Boys Arrested Saturday

The boys, who were arrested by postoffice inspectors and Department of Justice operatives Saturday, denied they had received any money as a result of the letters, sent out under the name of the "X-Ray Club." Letters to bankers demanded that $10,000 be placed under the Larchmont bridge. The exact time for leaving the money was given and taxi stands then were called and cab ordered to call for the bankers, they told Mahone.

Saturday, the boys said, they telephoned to half a dozen jewelry stores representing themselves as City Manager Ashburner. The City Manager wished to give his wife an expensive string of pearls, they told jewelers, according to their statement to Mahone, and they were asked to lay aside such jewelry as Mrs. Ashburner might like.

Deny Receiving Any Money
The boys denied that they ever received money as a result of the letters. As evidence of their personal integrity they pointed to the fact that they are custodians of gold worth $4,000 to $5,000 belonging to their employers, the Harris and Ferguson dental laboratory.

Following receipt of the letters, bankers turned them over to postal inspectors. While private detectives were employed to guard their persons. The investigation leading to their arrest lasted ten days, during which time much excitement existed in the financial and business district.

Greensboro To Have $2,000,000 Office Building

GREENSBORO, May 17.—The contract for the construction of the 17-story Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co. building to be constructed where the old courthouse now stands on the corner of Elm and Market streets was last night let to the George A. Fuller Construction Company of Washington.

The sum of approximately $2,000,000, this sum including heating, lighting and plumbing. The building will be of steel and reinforced with concrete.

Walter G. Dietler, vice-president of the company to whom the bid was awarded, stated last night that work will begin in tearing down the old courthouse either tomorrow or Friday. He believes he will have the building ready for occupancy in about 18 months.

To Rush Construction
In addition to convincing the building committee of the insurance company that with all the resources at their command they can speed up the work of the building, the Fuller company submitted the lowest bid. This construction company is one of the largest in the United States and engineers with the company have had much experience in constructing large buildings.

Mr. Dietler stated that between 150 and 200 men will be in Greensboro by the time the old courthouse is torn down ready to begin excavating for the new structure. From then until the building is started, the insurance company these men will be hard at work to push the completion of the finest office building in Greensboro, the highest in the city and one of the largest and finest in the South.

Greensboro, Va., and people of the entire state, as well, are very much interested in the construction of this building.

Warning Against Oculists Making False Statement

RICHMOND, May 17.—Warning against two men who are alleged to be operating in rural sections of Virginia in the guise of oculists on the staff of the state board of health was issued yesterday by Dr. Ennion G. Williams, state health commissioner. They are connected with the board of health and are alleged to have performed a necessary operation upon the eyes of their victims, and collect a fee of $100.

Reports concerning their operations came to the office of Dr. Williams from Vienna, Va. Concerning them, Dr. Williams said:

"The people of Virginia ought to know by this time that the State Board of Health co-operates with counties in arranging for clinical work. It is charged, just sufficient to defray the expenses of the clinic, but that no man is ever sent from the State Board of Health authorized to treat cases for pay or to perform operations for which the patient is supposed to pay the operator."

"When towns or counties conduct clinics, the authorities collect whatever fees are charged. The state board does not permit its clinicians to engage in any private practice while they are doing clinical work in a neighborhood, and it does not permit them to make private engagements. No doctor connected with the State Board of Health ever could travel through a county soliciting work for pay."

Superior ideas of health work and could not be tolerated."

Deputy Sheriff Shot From Woods

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 16.—R. A. Chambers, a deputy sheriff in Swain county, was shot and critically wounded from ambush Saturday morning. While walking along a railway track in company with Andrew Collier, about two miles from Smokemont, Chambers fell from a charge of shot fired from a laurel thicket about 30 yards away. He was brought to Asheville late yesterday and placed in the Meriwether hospital, where it was learned his left eye had been destroyed, and several shot had entered the face, head and neck.

Unless complications develop the deputy has a chance to recover, attending physicians said. Chambers' assailant fired point blank with a shotgun, using No. 3 shot. About 100 shot were revealed in an X-ray photograph taken at the hospital.

The deputy sheriff and Collier were returning from a raiding party. They had just destroyed a 40-gallon still and were walking along the railway track side by side, when, without warning the single shot rang out. Collier was on the "off" side and was not struck.

Poison In All Bootleg Drinks

Judge in Charge to Grand Jury Frightens Consumers by Giving Graphic Picture—Many Samples Analyzed.

GEORGETOWN, Tex., May 16.—In his charge to the grand jury of the District Court here a few days ago Judge James R. Hamilton threw a fright into the imbibers of "moonshine" liquor by picturing in graphic style the poisonous effects of much of the stuff which bootleggers sell. He asserted that of the 1,000 samples of confiscated "moonshine" analyzed by the State Food and Drug Department, not more than twenty-five samples were found free from poison.

Facts Disclosed
"Facts as disclosed by the evidence in bootlegging cases in our trial courts prove moonshine liquor to be a nasty, filthy beverage," he continued. "It is the condition surrounding the manufacture that introduces the element of danger. These illicit stills are hidden in thickets, fields, old out-houses and barns. The containers often consist of old barrels, after repeated use, unspeakably filthy and ill-smelling."

"The unprotected fermenting mixture attracts animal life, such as flies, cockroaches, mice, rats, bugs and insects of every description. They all feed and fatten on the material and often die in it. Some of this rotten

"UNOFFICIAL" DAYLIGHT SAVING, HARDING PLAN, NO HIT IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, May 16.—"Have you had Harding's mixture? How do you like it?"

So runs the new Washington greeting, the answer being yes and no. Part of the capital does and part does not. The part that doesn't says so with a mighty clamor, the part that does seem to consist solely of the president.

"Harding's mixture?" It's neither smoking tobacco, baby food, home brew recipe or patient medicine. It's the presidential brand of daylight saving.

Mr. Harding wants an hour more daylight, but he doesn't want to interfere with that conservative institution, Eastern standard time. He wants everybody to get up an hour earlier, get to work an hour earlier and quit at least that much ahead of time.

Today it happened. Some employers thought the system was good, others refused to change their hours of labor. But everyone in Washington got up an hour earlier today. Those who did not telephone operators enjoying an early morning snooze at the switch were rudely awakened.

Among the earlier risers were the five children of Representative Arthur M. Free, two sets of twins and a single, all of school age. A few moments later Mr. Free began saying daylight.

But Mr. Free is a Republican from California and doesn't believe in too much thrift. He spent his extra hour drafting a bill making it a misdemeanor to require children under fourteen to be in school before nine a. m. and promptly introduced the measure in the House with the fervent hope that it will pass and allow him to sleep.

Oh, we nearly forgot. The president was at his desk promptly at 8 instead of 9. He quit an hour early today.

KEG OF ALCOHOL EXPLODES BOY SITTING ON IT KILLED

NORFOLK, May 16.—James Parker, colored, 15 years old, of Portsmouth, was almost instantly killed at 9:40 o'clock last night, following the explosion of a barrel of alcohol, on which he was sitting, in the store room of Carr's drug store, at County and Court streets.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery, neither the police, nor Jerome P. Carr, the proprietor of the store, or those employed there, being able to account for it definitely. The barrel was standing upright, and is said to have contained from six to eight gallons of grain alcohol, though it was a 24-gallon barrel. Parker, who was employed as night porter at the drug store for ten days past, is thought to have been sitting on the barrel reading, when the barrel exploded. The barrel was shot to the ceiling, making an easily discernible mark in it. The boy was also shot into the air, but apparently not an instant for he struck the stone pipe. He may have struck the ceiling also.

The boy died within two minutes of the explosion. When Dr. George Oast examined him, it was found that his diaphragm was broken. The body was taken to the funeral parlors of John H. Corprew, 300 1-2 Chestnut street.

Detectives DeBruin and Piland investigated the case for the police. They found that the bottom of the barrel had been shattered by the explosion, but that the main portion of it had been lifted to the ceiling, and had come down, quite intact. The only possible explanation for the fact is that the boy tried to light a cigarette, and that the explosion resulted from the match setting fire to fumes from the barrel, though it is believed to have been corked. It was said.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST MAN SAID TO HAVE SOLD POISONED LIQUOR KILLING CUSTOMER

BRISTOL, May 16.—Poisoned whiskey is held responsible for the sudden death of George Myers, aged 60 years, and Jess Baker, mountaineer, of Portsmouth creek, from whom Myers is alleged to have bought the liquor, is now being held in the Virginia jail awaiting preliminary trial Thursday on a charge of second degree murder.

Baker was arrested at his home by Sheriff John H. Liston of Washington county, of Sullivan county, and Police-men Worley Crosswhite and James Bordwine, of Bristol, on evidence furnished by Mrs. Myers, who claims her husband took about five drinks of the liquor and died within 15 minutes.

Mandy Myers, daughter of the dead man, claims that she took a drink of the fiery stuff and would have died had she not vomited a few minutes later. She said the whiskey made her desperately sick. A sample of the liquor found at the Myers home, in the officers has been sent to Richmond for an analysis by experts. Baker denied that he had been selling liquor and said that he had never heard of the Myers family. Mrs. Myers claims, however, that Baker was a frequent visitor to their home and that she had promised her husband not to divulge that he had been buying liquor from Baker. She declared that her husband bought a gallon from Baker the day before Myers died.

Myers was an Odd Fellow and a Mason.

Gen. Semenov's Errand Is Bared

By GENE SOHN
SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—The real purpose of General Ataman Semenov's visit to the United States has been bared here by Count Vladimir A. Baranoff, accredited Semenov agent.

It is the overthrow of the Bolshevik government in Russia by a new united drive under a relative of the dead czar, Count Baranoff says. Semenov and other Russian political leaders will confer in San Francisco, Washington, New York and other central points probably within the next month.

Semenov will continue on to Europe for meetings that will close plans for bringing the constitutional monarchy forces into one gigantic drive against the Bolsheviks—possibly within a year.

The general will be in Europe a relative of the late czar who is to lead the drive.

"This man cannot now be named," says Baranoff. "But he is an idol of the Russian army. The new offensive will be pressed simultaneously in Siberia, where Semenov will lead, in South Russia, where Wrangel will attack, and in Estonia."

Semenov, after his European conference, will return to America. He will be Command Under Horvath, ex-governor of Vladivostok, Gondate, one-time governor of Siberia and other leaders."

Count Baranoff was appointed special representative of Semenov in 1920.

Signs to Buy Castle In Ireland

NEW YORK, May 17.—To the poster of well-known Americans who maintain country estates in Ireland there is to be added shortly the name of George Melanus, the cartoonist and creator of "Bringing 'Em Back," who slipped quietly away from this country on one of the steamers sailing last Saturday, and who by the time he returns in late July will be the "landed proprietor" of a broad Irish demesne.

BREAST MILK IS BEST OF ALL IN SUMMER TIME

A HEALTHY BREAST-FED BABY

BY MRS. MAX WEST,
State of the United States Children's Bureau

THE easiest baby to take care of and bring through the hot weather safely is the one who is nursed at his mother's breast. Even a few drops of mother's milk may be the means of warding off serious and possibly fatal illness. This is particularly true of the young baby. Up to three months of age, at least, breast milk is invaluable and even if the mother's supply is not quite sufficient for the baby, she should give him the benefit of every drop there is, especially through the hot days of summer.

The baby should be allowed to nurse both breasts, if the supply is scanty. This not only helps the baby, but is the best known way for producing more breast milk. It has been found that more important even than the diet for the nursing mother is the regular stimulation of the breasts by the nursing of the baby or by a method of hand manipulation by means of which the breasts are emptied, when necessary, by the mother herself.

Tiny babies, deprived of mother's milk, often have a hard time to cling to the frail thread of life in summer, and it is no unusual sight to see a devoted nurse going from one hospital to another, the city over, trying to find some nursing mother who can spare a few drops of the precious fluid which alone will avail to carry some infant past the crisis. But even breast-fed babies may suffer serious harm in summer if the rules of good feeding are not fully observed. If the mother makes a practice of offering the breast every time the baby cries, or permits the child to nurse whenever it wakes up at night, it will be very easy to set up a bad case of indigestion.

Most babies thrive well if fed only once in four hours, and three hours is the shortest time that should elapse between feedings. After the early months, the baby should not require to be nursed later than an hour at which the mother retires, and many healthy babies early learn to sleep all night without feeding.

In hot weather, overfeeding is far more serious than at any other time, for a slight digestive upset easily becomes an alarming illness during the days of excessive heat.

(Tomorrow: Weaning the Baby)

Man As Godiva Shocks Diners In Restaurant

NORFOLK, May 16.—Diners in Gordon's restaurant were thrown into a panic last night at 10:30 o'clock when Willie Newcomber, 28 years old, wandered down from his room in the hotel and strolled into the dining room and in the fashion prevalent in the Garden of Eden before the fig leaf became all the rage.

Friends quickly prevailed upon him to beat a hasty retreat upstairs, but when he got back to his room he began to express his resentment over the uncivil manner in which he had been ejected from the dining room. Then it was that an urgent appeal was telephoned to Detective Ed Bell, at police headquarters, to come to the hotel and soothe the obstreperous guest.

Bell found young Newcomber in a rebellious mood. At the detective's insistence, he slipped into his underwear, but more clothing he would not put on. Tired of arguing, Bell grabbed him, secured a headlock and carried him bodily to the elevator, underwear and all. All the way to the street Newcomber struggled and protested. But Bell weighs 280 and knows a lot about wrestling. So the prisoner's struggles were in vain.

When the detective and his prisoner reached the street, new complications arose. Newcomber stubbornly declined to be placed in the patrol wagon. As often as Bell lifted him to the door of the patrol wagon, Newcomber would grab the handrail on either side. Bell was on the point of employing drastic tactics, when friends intervened and urged him to be nursed later than an hour at which the mother retires, and many healthy babies early learn to sleep all night without feeding.

In hot weather, overfeeding is far more serious than at any other time, for a slight digestive upset easily becomes an alarming illness during the days of excessive heat.

Street Car Kills Four-Year Girl

RICHMOND, May 16.—Crushed under the wheels of a one-man street car, Dorothy Virginia Driscoll, aged 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Driscoll, 214 West Seventh street, South Richmond, died at the Memorial hospital shortly after the accident yesterday afternoon. The child, according to reports, ran directly into the pathway of the car in front of the home.

Children on the other side of the street had asked her to come over to play, it is said, and, in her eagerness to join her companions on the other side of the street, she did not notice the approach of the car. The body of the child was taken from underneath the trucks of the car. The accident occurred at 4:37 o'clock. Following the death, the body of the child was removed to the undertaking establishment, J. T. Colquhoun, the mortician of the car, was arrested on a charge of involuntary manslaughter. He told the police that his car was going at a moderate rate of speed, and that the child ran directly in front of it so that it was impossible for him to stop the car in time to save the child. It was announced that an inquest will be held by Dr. J. L. Whitfield, city coroner.

ROTARIAN H. W. BROWN IN REMINISCENCES

The bi-weekly luncheon of the Danville Rotary yesterday was well attended, but it fell considerably short of the desired 100 per cent. attendance for which a special appeal had been made. Features of the meeting included the selection of John E. Overby, secretary of the club since its organization, being given the honor of delegate from this club to the prospective International Association of Rotary clubs in California; a craft-manship address by Rotarian Henry W. Brown, the oldest member of the club and one of the most beloved, and finally the adoption with but a single dissenting vote of a resolution offered by Rotarian William P. Boatwright, endorsing the movement to provide a community chest in Danville next year.

One or two visitors were introduced, the usual songs sung including the "Land of the Pilgrims' pride" rendition of "God Save the King," and finally the menu served was an attractive one also was enjoyed.

Mr. Brown told the club the story of his life, which has been devoted to scientific floriculture, beginning in England at a point between Windsor and London. He told of the years he spent under glass in the hot-houses and of the science of forcing flowers and mushrooms to meet the demands of patrons. Then he told of his marriage before leaving the old country for the land of his adoption, of his location in Richmond in the straggly days of that city half a decade or more after the war and how he had secured employment with a florist there, only to have his employer, in whose home he lived, decamp in the night. From Richmond he came to Danville just before the riot of 1893, and he humorously related his impressions of this city at that politically turbulent and exciting period of its history. Much of his reminiscence had to do with the work to which he had been brought up and which he loves from long association with it.

Meteor's Landing Place a Mystery

NORFOLK, May 16.—After three days of searching, in which many automobile parties joined yesterday, the spot where a meteor came to earth last Thursday night after a flight through southern skies, noticed by people throughout southern Virginia and North Carolina, is still undiscovered.

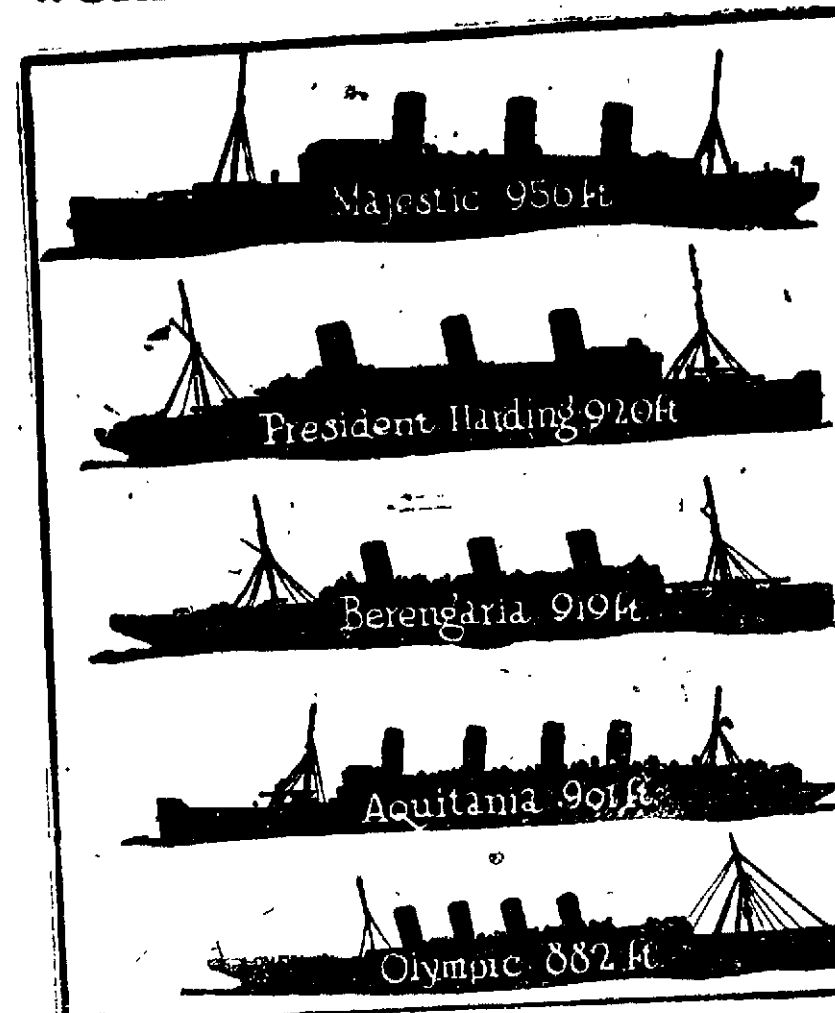

Reports received here on the morning after the meteor's flight, said it had struck the earth in Nottoway county, Virginia, a thinly populated section, but no fewer men who went to that vicinity have returned without locating it. The general belief expressed today was that the meteor was a caseous mass that disintegrated with explosive effect when it struck the earth.

SANG SOUTHERN FAVORITE

In publishing the program this morning of Confederate Memorial exercises at the Memorial Mansion yesterday, a song "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" by Franklin Kidd, was unintentionally omitted. He sang in the place of the quartette which failed to make their appearance.

WORLD'S LARGEST VESSELS

For the next two years or so, the Cunarder Berengaria will hold second place in length to the Majestic, as the President Harding, new name of the old Leviathan, is undergoing extensive overhauling and will probably not be in service before 1924.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Majestic, mammoth new Morvich of the seas, warped into pier at 4:35 this afternoon after a trip from England during which she broke all existing records for maiden voyages on the Atlantic.

Sir Betram Hayes, her skipper, who went to her bridge in successive steps from cabin boy in the White Star line service, had not tried to put the Majestic at top speed during the voyage. For two days she had "loafed" then speeding up as she ran into smoother seas she drove along at a 25.50 knot pace, hitting it up to 26 on the last leg from Fire Island to Ambrose lightship.

Just five days and 16 hours after she left Cherbourg, the Majestic whirled past the lightship in a cloud of spray. Then she slowed down to pick up her pilot. Captain A. L. Peterson, veteran pilot who always takes in the Mauretania and the Olympic climbed aboard the Majestic just inside the lightship and brought her in. He took no chances. It was noticeable that he stuck to the very center of the winding channel until he finally slowed down for the health officer's tug.

As the Majestic felt her way up the channel, the Mauretania, the Cunarder which is her nearest rival, sped out to sea.

The four stacks of the Mauretania were silent. There was no show of colors. The Majestic broke out in flag signals, "bon voyage."

Two hundred feet beyond the new-comer, the Mauretania, broke out in "thanks" and sped away.

After two hours in quarantine due more to her own immense size than to any sickness aboard, the Majestic was cleared.

The trip up the river which was a real welcome. Tugs, ferries, steamers and even people on shore were noisy in their getting to the biggest ship afloat.

The Majestic's trip was one of triumph. Her whistles were going steadily as she attempted to answer salutes from all sides.

Captains Peterson and Hayes put the Majestic into her dock on a rising tide, but they failed to make allowance for her momentum and she crashed into the pier shattering two sections and breaking several windows.

"She did better than 25.50 knots on an average," reported Captain Hayes "and at no time were we using her full boiler capacity. I held her back purposely. I wanted to feel the ship. She is, to my mind, certain to break all existing records for speed afloat."

Only one thing marred the trip. Sir John Parton, London manager of the White Star Company with several English engineers made the first voyage and reported the Majestic oil tanks are not functioning quite right. She came into port with a pronounced

Pinchot-Alter Contest Is Close

(By The Associated Press.) PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—Complete figures will be necessary to determine the winner of the Republican nomination for governor in yesterday's primary. Nearly two-thirds of the State has been heard from. Attorney General George E. Alter is leading Gifford Pinchot, former State forester, by 25,000. The last estimates, however, showed Pinchot leading in 61 of the 67 counties in the State.

WOMAN'S COMPLEX LIFE

Woman's complex life with its multitudinous calls is given as the reason for many a nervous breakdown. Home work, social obligations, dressmaking and the care of children keep the 20th century woman in a whirlwind of activity until headaches develop, backache, nervousness and sometimes more serious ills which are peculiar to her sex alone. Such women should not despair, but be guided by the letters so often published in this paper from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This is a root and herb medicine that contains no drugs and can be taken in safety by any woman.

STEEL COMPANY MERGER IS GIVEN BOARD APPROVAL

NEW YORK, May 16.—Purchase of the Lackawanna Steel Company by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation was approved by both boards of directors today and representatives of six other large independent steel companies held the first of several meetings to arrange terms with Kuhn, Loeb and Company bankers, in the face of the federal trade commission's request for information concerning both deals before they are consummated.

The Bethlehem-Lackawanna deal which must be ratified by special meetings of stockholders to be held later involves the issuance of $35,108,500 in new capital stock by the Bethlehem company equal to the par value of the Lackawanna stock outstanding.

No official statement was given out as to the actual progress made at the meeting of the bankers and the executive heads of the six independent companies but Thomas L. Chadbourn, counsel for the interests involved, declared that it was now a 3 to 1 shot that the merger would go through. He explained, however, that considerable discussion will be necessary before an agreement was made and expressed the opinion that positive developments were unlikely next week.

Just after the market closed Wall street was excited over a report that the six-company combination was going to approach Charles M. Schwab with a proposition to unite the Bethlehem-Lackawanna interests with theirs and to become head of the proposed new combination. Mr. Chadbourn vigorously denied the report stating that it was "unqualifiedly false and without foundation."

ELINOR GLYN'S PROPHECY COMES TRUE AND CONNIE LOSES LOVE FOR JOHN!

Glyn had Constance Talmadge's broken romance all figured out before the famous author of "Three Weeks" left Hollywood recently for her home in England.

Naturally Mrs. Glyn would never confess that she meant Constance when she said prophetically:

"It's utterly impossible for a beautiful, sentimental, emotional woman to go on loving a prosaic, commonplace husband, when the handsomest, most gallant, most perfect lovers are wooing her day after day in the studio."

"So far as real romance and real love are concerned, the difference is much less than the 'b, c, d,' that divides the 'a' and the 'e.' It's not that it makes the woman love the real lover, but it makes her love the real lover less."

Anyhow, Mrs. Glyn had hardly shaken the dust of Hollywood from her feet when Constance Talmadge sued for divorce from John C. Plafoglio, the son of the millinaire tobacco importer, with whom she eloped in December, 1920.

After the marriage, says Connie, she desired to go on with her screen career. But it pained John to see her doing love scenes with movie heroes.

It pained him so much that they separated in April, 1921. John went back to his spite in the St. Regis, New York and Connie went on making pictures with ardent love scenes.

Perfect lovers with whom she made pictures included Harrison Ford and Kenneth Harlan. Then there were George Fawcett, character actor, and James Harrison, a juvenile comedian.

If John went to a movie showing one of Constance's films, he might be sitting right next to someone who'd giggle, "Gee, how'd you like to hug her, Jimmy?"

Poor John! "When your husband interferes with your career, can your husband," says Connie.

But how much loving should a husband tolerate with movie heroes? And how much real loving can a wife stand before real love fades?

COUSIN OF LINCOLN DIES

READING, Pa., May 16.—Alfred G. Lincoln, a farmer of Exeter, and a third cousin of President Abraham Lincoln, died today aged 83 years. He resembled President Lincoln to such a degree that he was known in his neighborhood as "Abe". In 1750 one branch of the Lincoln family left Berks for Virginia and from this President Lincoln was descended. Alfred G. Lincoln's ancestor was Abraham Lincoln of Berks, one of the most prominent men of his time and specially active in the revolutionary war.

CODE MESSAGE CAUSES RECIPIENT LOTS OF TROUBLE

RICHMOND, May 16.—W. F. Green, labor agent, was detained here today by police on his arrival from Orange, as a result of the receipt of a message that he had left a telegram at Orange which came from Pulaski, Va., and read: "The two men are dead."

Green said that it was a code message, indicating that two men in Pulaski with whom he had been negotiating were no longer interested. The police held him until communication was had with the police of Pulaski, and it was learned that nothing out of the ordinary had transpired there.

J. P. MORGAN'S SON LAID OFF HARVARD CREW BY DOCTOR

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 16.—of the year, as there was no thought of changing him. However, it is felt Morgan will come back stronger than ever.

The layoff is expected to benefit the young oarsman who has been working exceptionally hard this season. His inactivity probably will prevent him from rowing against Cornell, May 27, because of insufficient training. The fact that young Morgan is forced to relinquish his work is a severe blow to other members of the crew, who have looked upon him as one of the best men in the boat and also their captain for next year.

Morgan was seized with an attack of stomach trouble just before the Navy-Princeton-Harvard race on Charles River basin. He persisted in starting in the race, but at the last minute was forced to give up. His place was taken by Buddy Ladd, who had just rowed in the second varsity race. Dr. Morgan took Ladd because he was the most experienced man in the second boat.

Morgan was a member of the second varsity crew that defeated Yale second crew two years ago and was a member of the varsity crew last year. He rowed an exceptionally good race with Pennsylvania.

Capt. Appleton looks upon the layoff of Morgan as one of the best breaks
